PROGRAM NOTES, TEXTS, AND TRANSLATIONS

Today’s program includes a cycle on Spanish poetry accompanied by guitar, two Piazzolla pieces in wordless arrangements for chorus, and a rare combination of a liturgical text (the Mass) with tango-flavored music. Beyond the Spanish/Argentine relationship, they have in common the expression of deep feelings.

The composer John Adams has written eloquently of Piazzolla, and his analysis could apply to Castelnuevo-Tedesco, a generation earlier, as well.

Astor Piazzolla’s art came into our Northern Hemisphere consciousness at roughly the same time as that of Neruda, Márgrec, Vargos Llosa, Borges…. Their work shocked us with its mixture of brutality, magic, sensuality, and humane honesty. The vitality of their expressive world, its emotional range, its unblinking vision of the human condition, its humor in the face of crushing economic and political weights, gave us a shock, like a brilliant life-giving jab of pain. In the musical world alone, the discovery of Piazzolla was like the finding of some exotic and dangerous potency drug, a drug that could bring with it the double-edged sword of ecstasy and the bitterest of remorse.

While there are only a handful of choral works with guitar accompaniment, the Spanish songs of Federico García Lorca seem made for the instrument. The composer, Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco, was born in Florence, where his career flourished early. An Italian of Spanish and Jewish heritage, he emigrated to America in 1939, settling first in New York and ultimately in southern California. He became a U.S. citizen in 1946. A prolific artist, he was an active film composer and composition teacher. His works for voice are considered among the best of his creations.

The Romancero Gitano (Gypsy Romance), a seven-movement cycle, was written for four- and five-voice chorus in 1951. The title and poetry are by Federico García Lorca, the Spanish playwright and poet who lived from 1898 to 1936, when he was shot by Falangist soldiers on the opening day of the Spanish Civil War. García Lorca’s work, written in the 1920s, breathed new life into the old tradition of the Spanish ballad. Benet’s Reader’s Encyclopedia describes the collection as “evocative of the Andalusian countryside and its Gypsy people, a compelling fusion of naïve and primitive folk motifs and a deeply personal, thoroughly modern voice.” The seven songs chosen by the composer come from Lorca’s Poema del Cante Jondo, which can be translated as Poem of the Deep Song. The term “cante jondo” also means a type of flamenco singing. Lorca wrote that these songs represent “the scream of a dead generation, the sharp elegy of the disappeared centuries.”

In the extended first movement, characteristically Spanish and Latin-American rhythms are used, alternating 6/8 and 3/4 time. The introduction and postlude for guitar flow like the water of the three rivers in the title. The poetry vividly describes orange blossoms, olive trees, and lost love. The movement called “Procesión” is in three parts, all describing folk festivals and processions. (Fishing villages in Italy and Spain have festivals in which a statue of the Virgin is carried to the sea, where she blesses the boats.) “Memento” is marked “tempo de tango,” while “Baile” is marked “tempo de seguidilla.” As a bass soloist sings of an aging Carmen, the sopranos and altos imitate the sound of her castanets. In “Crótalo” we again have 6/8 and 3/4 meter in a description of a castanet (black beetle) marked “furioso.”
Baladilla de los tres ríos

El río Guadalquivir va entre naranjos y olivos.
Los dos ríos de Granada bajan de la nieve al trigo.
¡Ay, amor que se fue y no vino!

El río Guadalquivir tiene las barbas granates.
Los dos ríos de Granada uno llanto y otro sangre.
¡Ay, amor que se fue por el aire!

Para los barcos de vela Sevilla tiene un camino;
por el agua de Granada sólo reman los suspiros.
¡Ay, amor que se fue y no vino!

Guadalquivir, alta torre y viento en los naranjales.
Dauro y Genil, torrecillas muertas sobre los estanques.
¡Ay, amor que se fue por el aire!

¡Quién dirá que el agua lleva un fuego fatuo de gritos!
¡Ay, amor que se fue y no vino!

Lleva azahar, lleva olivas, Andalucía, a tus mares.
¡Ay, amor que se fue por el aire!

Lleva azahar, lleva oliva
Andalucía, a tus mares.
¡Ay, amor que se fue por el aire!

Song of the Three Rivers

The Guadalquivir River flows between orange and olive trees.
The two rivers of Granada descend from the snows to the wheat fields.
Ah, love that has gone and never returned.

The Guadalquivir River has a beard of garnet.
The two rivers of Granada, one is of tears and one of blood.
Ah, love that has vanished into thin air.

For sailboats, Seville has a passage.
Through the waters of Granada, only the sighs go up.
Ah, love that has gone and never returned.

Guadalquivir, high tower and wind in the orange groves.
Darro and Genil, little towers. lifeless above pools of water.
Ah, love that has vanished into thin air.

Who can say that the water bears a will-o’-the-wisp of cries?
Ah, love that has gone and never returned.

It carries orange blossoms, it carries olives, Andalusia, to your seas.
Ah, love that has vanished into thin air.
La guitarra
Empieza el llanto de la guitarra.
Se rompen las copas de la madrugada.
Es inútil callarla.
Es imposible callarla.
Llora monótona
como llora el agua,
como llora el viento sobre la nevada.
Es inútil callarla.
Es imposible callarla.
Llora por cosas lejanas.
Arena del Sur caliente que pide camelias blancas.
Llora flecha sin blanco,
la tarde sin mañana,
y el primer pájaro muerto sobre la rama.
¡Oh guitarra!
Corazón malherido por cinco espadas.

The Guitar
The weeping of the guitar begins.
The cups of dawn are broken.
It’s useless to silence it.
It’s impossible to silence it.
It weeps, monotonously,
as the waters weep,
as the wind weeps over the snowfall.
It’s useless to silence it.
It’s impossible to silence it.
It weeps for things far away.
The hot southern sand that longs for white camellias.
It weeps for the arrow without a target,
for the afternoon without a morning,
and for the first bird dead on the branch.
Oh guitar!
Heart wounded by five swords.

Puñal
El puñal entra en el corazón como la reja del arado en el yermo.
No. No me lo claves. No.
El puñal, como un rayo de sol, incendia las terribles hondonadas.
No. No me lo claves. No.

Dagger
The dagger pierces the heart like the blade of the plow in the desert.
No. Don’t stick it in me, no.
The dagger, like a ray of sun, burns the terrible ravines.
No. Don’t stick it in me, no.
Procesión

I. Procesión
Por la calle vienen extraños unicornios.
¿De qué campo, de qué bosque mitológico?
Más cerca, ya parecen astrónomos.
Fantásticos Merlines y el Ecce Homo, Durandarte encantando, Orlando furioso.

II. Paso
Virgen con miriñaque, virgen de la Soledad, abierta como un inmenso tulipán.
En tu barco de luces Vas por la alta marea de la ciudad, entre saetas turbias y estrellas de cristal.
Virgen con miriñaque, tú vas por el río de la calle, ¡hasta el mar!

III. Saeta
Cristo moreno pasa de lirio de Judea a clavel de España.
¡Miradlo por dónde viene! ¡Miradlo por dónde va!
De España. Cielo limpio y oscuro, tierra tostada, y cauces donde corre muy lenta el agua.
Cristo Moreno pasa, con las guedejas quemadas, los pómulos salientes y las pupilas blancas.

Procession

I. Procession
Down the road come strange unicorns.
From what fields? From what mythical woods?
Closer, astronomers now appear. Fantastic Merlins and the Ecce Homo, Enchanted Durandarte, Orlando furioso.

II. Passage
Virgin in crinoline, Virgin of solitude, open like an immense tulip.
In your boat of lights you float on the tide of the city, amid turbulent songs and crystal stars.
Virgin in crinoline, You float on the river of the street to the sea!

III. Hymn
The dark figure of Christ passes from the lily of Judea to the carnation of Spain.
Look where He’s come from! Look where He’s going!
From Spain, the clear dark skies, scorched earth, and slow-running riverbeds.
The dark figure of Christ passes, His long locks burned, His cheekbones protruding and his pupils white.
¡Miradlo por dónde viene!
¡Miradlo por dónde va!

Memento
Cuando yo me muera,
enterradme con mi guitarra bajo la arena,
entre los naranjos y la hierbabuena.

Cuando yo me muera,
enterradme si queréis
en una veleta.
¡Cuando yo me muera!

Memento
When I die,
bury me with my guitar under the sand,
between the orange trees and the peppermint.

When I die,
bury me, please
under a thin veil,
when I die.

Baile
La Carmen está bailando por las calles de Seville.
Tiene blancos los cabellos y brillantes las pupilas.
¡Niñas, corred las cortinas!
En su cabeza se enrosca una serpiente amarilla,
y va soñando en el baile con galanes de otros días.
¡Niñas, corred las cortinas!
Las calles están desiertas y en los fondos se adivinan corazones andaluces buscando viejas espinas, Ah!
¡Niñas, corred las cortinas!

Dance
Carmen is dancing in the streets of Seville.
Her hair is white and her eyes are sparkling.
Girls, close the curtains!
In her hair is entwined a yellow snake and she is dancing, dreaming of lovers from the past.
Girls, close the curtains!
The streets are deserted and in the shadows lurk Andalusian hearts brooding over old grievances, Ah!
Girls, close the curtains!

Crótalo
Crótalo.
Escarabajo sonoro.
En la araña de la mano rizas el aire cálido,
y te ahogas en tu trino de palo.
Crótalo.
Escarabajo sonoro.

Castanet
Castanet.
Sonorous black beetle.
In the spider of the hand you ripple the warm air and drown in your trill of wood.
Castanet.
Sonorous black beetle.
Two historians of the tango, Kacey Link and Kristin Wendland, discuss three dimensions of tango: dance, music, and poetry. In the poetry, the themes are abandonment, lost love, sadness (especially that of the lonely immigrant), betrayal, and nostalgia. The tango poet Discépolo said, “Tango is a sad thought that is danced.”

The word “tango” has an interesting history. It may have African roots and mean “reserved ground.” Or it may be derived from a Portuguese word meaning to touch. It eventually acquired the meaning of a place where African slaves and free Blacks gathered to dance. In the mid-1800s, African slaves who had been brought to Argentina started to influence local culture. In 1853 Argentina banned slavery, but thereafter came waves of immigrants, and eventually Argentina became a melting pot in which many dance forms were mixed. The polka, waltz, and mazurka were popular along with the habanera (from Cuba) and the Candombe (from Africa).

The tango was originally a dance of the poor in their barrios. It was strongly associated with bordellos and an underground lifestyle. But later tango became popular with the upper classes and eventually spread to Europe, becoming an international phenomenon. (Buenos Aires was considered the Paris of South America.)

The Golden Age of the Tango was from 1932 to 1955. Later in the 1950s, with political oppression, tango lyrics were banned as subversive. For some years tango went underground. In the 1980s tango was again popular, and a stage show, Tango Argentino, was a success, first in Paris, later on Broadway, in London, and finally in Argentina. By the 1990s there was a full rebirth of interest around the world.

Tango is a complex, multifaceted art form, but two characteristics stand out, and you will hear them today. The first is the use of the bandoneon, an instrument central to the sound of tango. It looks like a very large accordion with bellows, but it is much more complicated, having 71 buttons. It is a difficult instrument to master. Its origin is rather different from its use in our time. In the mid-19th century, it was a portable organ used in German parish churches. The bandoneon can carry soulful melodies, or be in charge of the harmony.

The second important characteristic of the tango is the rhythm known as 3-3-2. Within a 4/4 pattern (which would normally subdivide into 2 half notes or 4 quarter notes) the music is divided into three groups, often a dotted quarter, another dotted quarter, and a single quarter note. Or you may hear 3 eighth notes in an arpeggio, followed by another 3 eighths, and finally 2 eighths. There are many variations, but the effect of 3+3+2 against a 4/4 background is syncopated.
Astor Piazzolla was born in 1921 in Mar del Plata, Argentina, the son of Italian immigrants. In 1925 the family moved to the United States, living in Greenwich Village. As a child Piazzolla was introduced to both the tango music of the famous Carlos Gardel and the music of Bach. He began to learn the bandoneón at age eight when his father chanced to see one in a pawn shop. The family moved back to Mar del Plata in 1936, and to Buenos Aires in 1938. Piazzolla pursued classical composition, studying with Alberto Ginastera, and simultaneously played in tango orchestras. In 1946 he formed his own band. He also studied conducting with Hermann Scherchen, and composition with Nadia Boulanger at the Paris Conservatory. Boulanger recognized and supported his tango compositions.

Piazzolla died in 1992 after a lifetime of composing and performing. He was the main proponent of what was called “nuevo tango,” which differed from older tango in its inclusion of jazz elements, extended harmony, dissonance, counterpoint, longer, extended forms, and improvisation. “Nuevo tango” was accepted fully in Europe, but less admired in Argentina.

Here is another passage from John Adams:

The more time one spends with his music, the more the music’s startling little perversities begin to reveal themselves. A loose, spontaneous tango will suddenly engage in a passage of carefully strategized counterpoint that brings with it an ambiance of controlled rigor to a music of otherwise boldly erotic lyricism... Piazzolla’s music is fundamentally a tragic statement. Coming at a time when so much contemporary music has drifted either into irrelevant formalism or else toward a hectic romance with commercialism, these tangos speak to us with the authority of genuine feeling.

NAS first experienced the music of Piazzolla when we toured Argentina in 2007. The celebrated conductor and composer Oscar Escalada had arranged Piazzolla’s The Four Seasons of Buenos Aires for wordless chorus. We sang “Verano Porteño” (Summer of Buenos Aires) in Buenos Aires, and had the chance to have a workshop on the piece and the style with Escalada himself. Born in 1945, Escalada is Professor of Conducting and Composition at the Conservatory of La Plata, and gives workshops all over the world.

Today we sing “Verano Porteño” for a cappella chorus, and “Invierno Porteño” (Winter of Buenos Aires) for chorus and piano. In both works the chorus sings nonsense syllables, imitating the percussive elements of a tango band.
Martín Palmeri was born in 1965 in Buenos Aires. He has had a long career as a choral conductor in Argentina, working with town choirs, university choirs, and professional ensembles. He has composed choral and instrumental works, and operas. The work you hear today, Missa a Buenos Aires (nicknamed Misatango), was first performed by the National Symphony Orchestra of Cuba in 1996. Palmeri has been invited to conduct and perform as pianist in many performances around the world, including Germany, Argentina, Austria, Brazil, Chile, Ecuador, Slovakia, Spain, the Netherlands, Israel, Latvia, Lithuania, Russia, Switzerland, and the USA. A December 2018 performance by the WDR Radio Choir Cologne, with Palmeri as pianist, is available on YouTube.

Missa a Buenos Aires is an extraordinarily successful synthesis of two elements that might be considered irreconcilable: the Ordinary of the Catholic Mass and the tango. Written for chorus, bandoneon, piano and strings, the 40-minute work contains fugues as carefully constructed as those of Bach or Mozart, heard over a pulsing, jazzy string section. There are soulful solo passages for mezzo-soprano over a compelling, rhythmic accompaniment, occasionally sounding improvised. In one case the soloist is heard with lower voices of the chorus. There is an overall arch form, in that the opening motive for the chorus, Kyrie eleison, returns at the close with the text, Dona nobis pacem. The unmistakable, pervasive sound of the bandoneon casts its autumnal glow over the whole piece.

Kyrie

Kyrie eleison.
Christe eleison.
Kyrie eleison.

Lord, have mercy.
Christ, have mercy.
Lord, have mercy.

Gloria

Gloria in excelsis Deo.
Et in terra pax
hominibus bonae voluntatis.
Laudamus te; benedicimus te;
adoramus te; glorificamus te.
Gratias agimus tibi
propter magnam gloriam tuam.
Domine Deus, Rex coelestis,
Deus Pater omnipotens.

Domine Fili unigenite Jesu Christe.
Domine Deus, Agnus Dei,
Filius Patris.

Glory be to God in the highest.
And on earth peace to men of good will.
We praise Thee; we bless Thee;
we worship Thee; we glorify Thee.
We give thanks to Thee for Thy great glory.
O Lord God, Heavenly King,
God the Father Almighty.
O Lord Jesus Christ, the only begotten Son.
Lord God, Lamb of God,
Son of the Father.
Qui tollis peccata mundi, miserere nobis.
Qui tollis peccata mundi, suscipe deprecationem nostram.
Qui sedes ad dexteram Patris, O miserere nobis.
Quoniam tu solus Sanctus, tu solus Dominus, tu solus Altissimus, Jesu Christe.

Cum Sancto Spiritu in gloria Dei Patris. Amen.

Credo
Credo in unum Deum; Patrem omnipotentem, factorem coeli et terrae, visibilium omnium et invisibilium.

Credo in unum Dominum Jesum Christum, Filium Dei unigenitum, Et ex Patre natum ante omnia sæcula. Deum de Deo, lumen de lumine, Deum verum de Deo vero, Genitum non factum, consubstantialem Patri: per quem omnia facta sunt. Qui propter nos homines, et propter nostram salutem descendit de coelis. Et incarnatus est de Spiritu Sancto ex Maria Virgine: et homo factus est. Crucifixus etiam pro nobis sub Pontio Pilato, passus et sepultus est. Et resurrexit tertia die secundum Scripturas.

I believe in one God; the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth, and of all things visible and invisible.

And in one Lord Jesus Christ, the only begotten Son of God, begotten of the Father before all worlds; God of God, light of light, true God of true God, begotten not made; being of one substance with the Father, by Whom all things were made. Who for us men and for our salvation descended from heaven; and was incarnate by the Holy Ghost, of the Virgin Mary, and was made man.

He was crucified also for us, suffered under Pontius Pilate, and was buried. And on the third day He rose again according to the Scriptures.
Et ascendit in coelum;
sedet ad dexteram Patris.
Et iterum venturus est cum gloria,
judicare vivos et mortuos;
cujus regni non erit finis.

Credo in Spiritum Sanctum,
Dominum, et vivificantem,
qui ex Patre Filioque procedit.
Qui cum Patre et Filio simul
adoratur et conglorificatur, qui locutus est per Prophetas.

Credo in unam sanctam
catholicam et apostolicam Ecclesiam.
Confiteor unum baptismam,
in remissionem peccatorum.
Et expecto resurrectionem
mortuorum
et vitam venturi saeculi.
Amen.

Sanctus
Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus,
Dominus Deus Sabaoth.
Pleni sunt coeli et terra gloria tua.
Hosanna in excelsis.

Benedictus
Benedictus qui venit
in nomine Domini.
Hosanna in excelsis.

Agnus Dei
Agnus Dei,
qui tollis peccata mundi,
miserere nobis.
Agnus Dei.
Dona nobis pacem.

And ascended into heaven.
He sitteth at the right hand of the Father; and He shall come again with glory to judge the living and the dead; His kingdom shall have o end.

I believe in the Holy Ghost,
the Lord and giver of life,
Who proceeds from the Father and the Son, Who with the Father and the Son together is worshipped and glorified, as it was told by the Prophets.

And I believe in one holy catholic and apostolic Church.

I acknowledge one baptism
for the remission of sins.
And I await the resurrection of the dead
and the life of the world to come.
Amen.

Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of Hosts.
Heaven and earth are full of Thy glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Blessed is He that cometh
in the name of the Lord.
Hosanna in the highest.

Lamb of God,
Who takest away the sins of the world, have mercy upon us.
Lamb of God.
Grant us peace.

About the Artists

NEW AMSTERDAM SINGERS, now in its fifty-first year, is known for the breadth and variety of its repertoire. Specializing in a cappella and double-chorus works, the chorus sings music ranging from the 16th century through contemporary pieces, including many it has commissioned. In addition to the works by Carol Barnett, Lisa Bielawa, and Ben Moore commissioned for the group’s fiftieth anniversary, recent world premieres include compositions by Matthew Harris, Paul Alan Levi, Elizabeth Lim, Robert Paterson, and Ronald Perera. American and New York City premieres in the current decade have included works by Robert Paterson, Einojuhani Rautavaara, Matthew Harris, Abbie Betinis, Steven Stucky, Kirke Mechem, Steven Sametz, Kitty Brazelton, Clare Maclean, Alex Weiser, Sheena Phillips, and Judith Shatin. In 2016 NAS performed Frank Martin’s oratorio Golgotha with professional orchestra and soloists as guests of Trinity Church Wall Street. This concert, under the direction of Clara Longstreth, marked the first time the work was heard in New York City in over sixty years.

NAS has performed with the New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein, at Alice Tully Hall as a guest of Clarion Concerts, and with the American-Russian Youth Orchestra under Leon Botstein at Tanglewood and Carnegie Hall. NAS appeared with Anonymous Four and the Concordia Orchestra in Richard Einhorn’s Voices of Light at Avery Fisher Hall, under Marin Alsop, in 1999; in 2006 NAS performed Voices of Light at the Winter Garden of the World Financial Center, with Anonymous Four and Ensemble Sospeso under David Hattner, for broadcast on WNYC’s New Sounds.

NAS appears internationally under Ms. Longstreth’s direction. The chorus has sung at the Irakleion Festival in Greece; the Granada Festival in Spain; the International Choral Festival at Miedzyzdroje, Poland; the Festival of the Algarve in Portugal; Les Chorégies d’Orange in France; and the Llangollen International Musical Eisteddfod in Wales. On recent tours the chorus appeared in Turkey, Scandinavia, Croatia, Spain, Russia and the Baltics, Argentina and Uruguay, South Africa, Greece, and most recently Iceland and Denmark in 2017. In 2010 NAS was pleased to receive permission from the State and Treasury Departments to tour Cuba on a cultural visa.

CLARA LONGSTRETH is the founder and Music Director of New Amsterdam Singers and has led the group for its past fifty seasons. Under her direction, NAS has become known as one of the premier avocational choruses in New York City. Of Ms. Longstreth’s programs, Allan Kozinn wrote in The New York Times, “When a director takes up the challenge of building a cohesive program around a broad theme, we are reminded that programming can be an art.”

Ms. Longstreth studied conducting with G. Wallace Woodworth at Harvard University and with Richard Westenburg at the Juilliard School, from which she received her Master’s Degree. She has also studied with Amy Kaiser and Semyon Bychkov at the Mannes College of Music, and with Helmuth Rilling at the Oregon Bach Festival. Ms. Longstreth has been a frequent adjudicator at choral conferences, and was selected to present a lecture-demonstration on “Adventures in Programming” at the Eastern Division Convention of the American Choral Directors Association. In 2009 she received an Alumnae Recognition Award from Radcliffe College for her founding and longtime direction of New Amsterdam Singers. Ms. Longstreth has also served on the faculty of Rutgers University, and as a guest conductor of the Limón Dance Company, the Mannes College Orchestra, and the popular Messiah Sing-In performances at Avery Fisher Hall.

KARA DUGAN has been praised by The New York Times for her “vocal warmth and rich character.” The mezzo-soprano’s 2018/19 season included her Los Angeles Philharmonic and Carnegie Hall debuts with Michael Tilson Thomas conducting. Ms. Dugan also sang the role of Mrs. Van Buren in a workshop performance of composer Ricky Ian Gordon’s new opera, Intimate Apparel, with a libretto by Lynn Nottage. The piece was commissioned by the Metropolitan Opera/Lincoln Center Theater’s New Works Program. She has also sung Mahler’s Rücker-Lieder with the Mistral ensemble.

Ms. Dugan also enjoys recital work with her husband, pianist Peter Dugan. Last season they premiered their program “Art Song in America,” presented by the Charles Ives Concert Series in Danbury, CT. The duo recently made a guest appearance with crossover group Time for Three at Joe’s Pub in New York City. Ms. Dugan has spent her summers with the Marlboro Music Festival, Ravinia’s Steans Music Institute, Boston Early Music Festival, Wolf Trap Opera, and Aspen Music Festival and School. She has recently sung with the San Francisco Symphony, Philadelphia Orchestra, Buffalo Philharmonic, and New World Symphony. Learn more at KaraDugan.com.
